Why is it worth attending the meeting?

In recent months, we have seen a marked acceleration in legislative work in the area of anti-corruption – both at European Union level and in Poland. These amendments are systemic and cover not only the public administration, but also the private sector.

Participation in the conference will provide an opportunity to learn about regulatory and market trends in the area of anti-corruption, with special focus on proposed legislative amendments, good practices and exchange of experiences in this area. The event is a unique opportunity to meet in person and exchange experiences with the author of the French law “Sapin II” – Michel Sapin.

Whom is the conference aimed at?

The event is aimed at a wide audience representing various sectors, especially people who face a heightened risk of corruption in their professional activity.

We invite, among others, representatives of the legal and compliance departments of both Polish and international companies, representatives of state-owned companies, entities subject to ESG reporting requirements and companies operating in Poland as part of French capital groups.

France:

How did “Sapin II” come into being? What have French companies and the French administration learned in the process of implementing effective anti-corruption regulations?

European Union:

The draft EU Anti-Corruption Directive will approximate regulations in all Member States. What does this mean for business in Poland?

Poland:

The abolition of the Central Anti-Corruption Bureau, new anti-corruption strategies, a changing anti-corruption legal environment.

Business:

Who is liable for corrupt acts in a company? What responsibilities do managers and compliance departments have?
